Tradition and Change

While the foundations of Stone Ridge and the values of the Sacred Heart remained traditional, the community continued to grow and change with each new year. On returning to school in September, we encountered many new surroundings, faces, and ideas.

The extension of the Upper School into the garage was a surprise to many of us and has given our language department a distinctive atmosphere. The incoming faculty and students were welcome additions to the school. The new administration, full of enthusiasm and expectations, fostered the spirit and morale at Stone Ridge for a productive year.

New ideas were welcomed at Stone Ridge as traditions for future years. The First Annual Photography Contest has proved to be an interesting look at the world through the eyes of our classmates' cameras. "First Experience", our new literary magazine, was filled with creative works from all three schools. In future years, "First Experience" may prove to be the inspiration for tomorrow's great writers. The entire Stone Ridge community was honored by a visit from Sister Camacho, the Superior General of the Society of the Sacred Heart. After her five day stay, Sister Camacho left with the knowledge of the true spirit of Stone Ridge.

Established traditions at Stone Ridge were continued during the year. Freshmen hazing during "Hell Week" was endured with usual good spirit; the Sophomore mothers and daughters gathered to participate in the Mother/Daughter Liturgy. The Junior Ring Ceremony and Prom helped to unify and strengthen the class. Participating in the Blue/Gold games during the year and on Field Day, students strove to earn points and win the coveted trophy. We hope the Seniors will remember the traditions of Stone Ridge with a mixture of sorrow and joy. Recalling not only the traditional Senior Très Bien Ball, but also the whole school at Christmas Feast Wishes and at the Saint Madeline Sophie Congé; the Seniors will remember both the solemn and exuberant days of Stone Ridge long after Graduation.

The new year at Stone Ridge proved to be full of exciting changes for the entire community. Familiar traditions were celebrated with as much enthusiasm as our latest changes. It is our hope that these aspects of the Stone Ridge community may continue to flow and ebb with the gentle tides of Time.

Students Savor Summertime

Vacation Brings Variety

By Michelle Escurdero

This summer, students have been occupied in various ways. Many of them have seen interesting places and some have visited their relatives.

Eileen Cleary went to New York and had her hip length cast exchanged for one just above her knee.

Ronda Killens spent parts of her summer working at a newspaper in North Carolina.

Both the Republican and Democratic conventions had representatives from our school. Melissa Meers went to both conventions as a page. Chrissy Funderburk sold posters at the Democratic convention. Also present was Andrea Koppel who worked for ABC.

Regina Lemp worked for the Common Cause, calling up Republicans and asking them for their support of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Swiss Challenge, an overseas organization which sponsors three fun-filled hiking, camping, and skiing weeks, was attended by Quita Remick, Melissa Meers, Nancy Johnston, and Jennifer Knepshield.

Various places in Europe were visited by Conchita Piedra, Andrea Koppel, Margarita Andreu, and Liane Herell.

Five girls from Stone Ridge have great tans because they worked as lifeguards. Ann Nicolaides worked at Kenwood Country Club while Gwen Gunther and Claire Sanders worked at apartment pools. Julie Gillespie and Elizabeth Trimble substituted at Columbia and Chevy Chase Country Clubs.

The National Children's Choir holds a workshop every year at Mary Mount College in New York. It was attended by Julie and Stephanie Farr and also by Mary Beth and Heather Connelly.

Alison Rich went to England for an acting course which lasted a few weeks.

As you can see, many of our students have been very busy with jobs and vacations. Whatever you did, we hope you had a good time.

The Freshmen have had it when Sr. Brown joins in.

HELL WEEK

Hell Week is a traditional event which welcomes all Freshmen into the Upper School. The Freshmen are considered "humble servants" to all Seniors. Included in the week this year was "Song Day", during which many people visited the ear doctor and glass items were shattered. "Lunch Day" was anxiously awaited by all Seniors, who by and LARGE soon regretted it!! "Burp." "Kangaroo Court" was the day on which ninth graders got CREAMED for their refusal to obey their Seniors. "Hey, Frosh, how did that pie taste?" King Tut, Bathing Beauties, ladies of the evening, chimneys, President Nixon, a multitude of pajama-clad young ladies, and other assorted objects were present on "Dress-up Day". Looking back on a typical hazing day, one finds a hectic schedule. Morning begins as the Freshman was rousted out of bed, taken captive by her Big Sister, and whisked off to McDonald's, even though pajamas are not the usual attire worn there. After a long day of harassment by her Big Sister, the Freshman was taken to a boys' school or a shopping mall for further humiliation. The Week's assemblies were heightened by spontaneous performances given by the Freshmen. To the delight of the Upper School, Sr. Brown tested the Freshmen's newly-acquired subservience by calling an air raid. On the whole, the week was enjoyed by all. Woe to the Class of '87!

Hi there cutie!!

Stone Ridge would like to extend its appreciation and warmest welcome to Sr. Brown, our new Headmistress. She has brought with her to our school great enthusiasm and a strong sense of community. We feel that the Ninety-First Street School has suffered a great loss because we have certainly received a wonderful gift in the person of Sr. Brown.

FEAST WISHES

By Carrie Cassidy

Feast Wishes is the special way Stone Ridge students express their appreciation of the efforts of the faculty. This year, the traditional Christmas ceremony took place on the morning of December 19. Feast Wishes Chairman, Arlene Madarang, and her committee had promised "one of the best ceremonies ever."

As always, the theme of details of the festivities were to be a surprise to the faculty. However, the Feast Wishes Committee, comprised of Lori Armstrong, Kathy Boyd, Carrie Cassidy, Eileen Cleary, Caryl Lazzaro, Mary Ann McDevitt, Stephanie Murphy, Alina Sanson, Claire Sanders, Kristy Stengel, Marjie Taylor, and Stephanie Waddell, had revealed a bit about the day.

There was the usual array of songs performed by the Upper, Middle, and Lower Schools and the Chorus. In addition, there were special presentations by all three schools. After the songs, there was the presentation of the faculty gift.

The Committee had tried to incorporate as many students as possible into the planning of this year's ceremony. Over Thanksgiving vacation, Middle Schoolers assisted in preparing for the day.

All the students looked forward to Feast Wishes as a time to make known their gratitude. When asked for her sentiments, Arlene said, "We hope that we showed our thanks to the faculty through our own Christmas spirit and we had fun planning around the theme 'Children of God'."

Spirit hits Social Sciences

"Celebrate good times, come on!"

The long awaited visit of Sr. Concepcion Camacho and the Provincial Team finally took place last Thursday. Preparations for their visit took weeks and involved the entire Stone Ridge Community.

Prior to entering the Study Center to view the slide presentation, Sr. Camacho studied the bulletin boards outside. The boards were based upon responses to questions concerning our nation and our faith. Upon entering the Study Center, Sr. Camacho was greeted with a warm "Buenos Dias Sor Camacho."

The following slide show related the role of women in America and St. Madeline Sophie's vision to an illustration of leadership at Stone Ridge.

After the slide show the Central Team was given calendars by the class officers, and Tracy Scott presented Sr. Camacho with a Stone Ridge "gator" from the Senior class. She smiled warmly and exclaimed, "Mira, mira."

Then Sr. Camacho addressed the students and faculty. Her speech reflected her understanding that we at Stone Ridge fear the decline of leadership in the United States today. She responded to this by urging the students to face all difficulties with a strong faith and not to be afraid of handling problems but tackle them with "zeal."

Sr. Camacho was most impressed with our Social Action program. She stated that it is important to become aware of the difficulties and sufferings of the other peoples in hope that we may be moved to action.

Students and faculty responded with warmth and respect. They felt Sr. Camacho's deep concern for the Stone Ridge Community and her willingness to learn about Stone Ridge and its education to leadership.

Sr. Camacho concluded her visit by telling the Stone Ridge students, "I will remember you as the leaders of the future."

Whenever I am in a Sacred Heart School I like to think about how St. Madeleine Sophie would recognize it as one of her own. Surely the sense of joy which permeates Stone Ridge would strike her immediately. The friendships developed here, the obvious commitment to serious study, and the willingness to do for others are all signs. The essential thing, the reason Stone Ridge exists at all, is to make it absolutely clear to you that you are loved by God. In experiencing and understanding this love, we are all called to bring it to others. So many of us at Stone Ridge have so much. We need to be mindful of our gifts and of our responsibilities.

Daily I see evidence of a growing consciousness of the world beyond Stone Ridge. I think St. Madeleine Sophie would be pleased!

— Sr. Barbara Rogers RSCJ

It is fitting that it was the Senior Class of 1981 who privileged me to contribute to its yearbook; for as I contemplate the people, emotions, philosophies, and events which have molded the last eight years of my life at Stone Ridge, I recall an event in February of 1977. That year — as every year, sadly — the clubbing of baby harp seals in Canada was imminent. Outside the Canadian Embassy on New Hampshire Avenue there was a protest demonstration and solicitation of signatures for a petition. It began at 9 A.M. one frigid, windy Saturday morning. A thirteen-year-old eighth grader who believed not only in animals' rights but also in her own rights to express her beliefs and influence others, marched with me at that demonstration.

Thank you for allowing me the excuse to express appreciation for a place and a spirit that has brought me joy for five years . . .

for students who almost always smile in the halls and have a quip or a question . . .
for colleagues who are supportive and funny and sympathetic, and, of course, great teachers . . .
for administrators whose every action clearly says, "the total education of these young women is our first concern," . . .
for classes of open faces and minds, for all they have taught me about appropriate priorities, for all the enthusiasm they have often been willing to admit . . .
for parents and alumnae who convince me that the friendships of Stone Ridge do indeed go beyond the boundaries of those brick pillars down the road . . .
for a newspaper staff of writers, editors, typists who work gruelling hours in a tiny garret weekend after weekend and hours on Tuesdays to bring out a fine paper . . .
for musicians, actresses, game-players, cheer-leaders, (yes Angel!), scholars, liturgy-readers, conge-organizers, speaker-getters, blackboard-washers, phone-answerers, among us who make this place indeed the best I can think of to spend the working hours of the HERE AND NOW.

Treasures. It strikes me that youth is an accumulation of treasures. Not a collection of material treasures, of course, but moments with friends which inspire and move us; smiles exchanged and remembered, enriching our present in such a way the other person will never know; memories of that valuable commodity — time spent together. Stone Ridge is so many people, so many moments, so many valuable treasures.

Since arriving, I have been increasingly aware of the value placed on a more specific treasure — learning. Yet, Stone Ridge does not simply educate the mind, but works to open the heart. That combination is so unique here, and powerful. Every year, we all learn to be more deeply aware that action is important in life and justice is the goal. What a wonderful treasure!

Viewing Stone Ridge through the telescope of time brings into focus myriad changes both tangible and intangible.

A look back over nearly two decades reveals dramatic growth in the range of career opportunities for women especially in the area of science and technology; the science explosion has had its impact on Stone Ridge. Changing attitudes toward the role of women in science brought about a new emphasis in our science program.

The 1960's introduced laboratory facilities into our Middle school. Upper school response was a two-fold increase in the science department, with a corresponding increase in student participation.

privileged to take part. I am confident that the graduates of Stone Ridge will continue their interest in science, so important in a world which becomes more and more dependent on technology and science.

Something that is both exciting and a little scary is happening this year. The first class of girls that I taught at Stone Ridge is graduating. Has it really been that long?

I have seen many changes in the past five years. In 1976 I was the new male teacher for the 8th Grade — an unknown factor (later at times I was the only male teacher around). From the American Indians to President Reagan, the students and I persevered. History may repeat itself, but each class that came through the 8th Grade was always uniquely different. That difference is what made me change during the years. I know I've benefited from the changes, just as many of the girls have gone through some good changes because of their experiences here.

The traditions and goals we've shared have brought us into a unique learning experience. The academic things are only a part of what the teachers and students get out of Stone Ridge. Perhaps the bulletin board that the Middle School made for Sister Camacho sums it all up. On the board the girls wanted to express what we are. What are we? Free, happy, loving, friendly, spirited, wise. What more could we want out of the Stone Ridge experience?

— Allan Woodard

Throughout my twenty years as student, parent, and teacher here, Stone Ridge has been more than a time or a place in my life. For me, it has been the experience of a third dimension created when people become involved with one another on the deeper levels of the heart. In a climate of mutual concern and support, I have developed relationships here which have given essential meaning to my life to the extent that one person's pain hurts all of us; another's special joy enriches each one of us. This third dimension of reality, people involved with one another on the deeper levels of the heart, has spanned my different roles here as well as the changes over the years, and has made my experience of Stone Ridge much more than a time or a place in my life.

— Dorothee Riederer

A spirit of giving oneself to education and to others is the heart of Stone Ridge. Here in an atmosphere of sharing, be it knowledge, friendship, or just an attentive ear, a newcomer is quickly made welcome. Faculty, students and community working as one create the environment of a closely knit family that is dedicated to the growth and learning of all its individuals.

— Anne Kreps

I hope you look back on your years at Stone Ridge with a smile and with satisfaction about all you have accomplished. The presence of each of you certainly has enriched our lives. You have learned a great deal, but I think you know that life is not static. It may be that the memorized formulas and accumulated facts of high school will become irrelevant or obsolete, but a Sacred Heart education is meant to encompass much more. For if you have learned to discover the good in others and know that it is God, to love thinking, to make a commitment to that which is meaningful to you, and to act with integrity, then you have captured the best of what your family and Stone Ridge have dreamed for you.

My heartfelt wish is that your own loving response to life may reflect your growing awareness of the reality of God's love for you.

— Barbara Elliott

Feast Wishes is a time for all the students to thank their teachers for all they have done for them. Here are some ways in which students would like to show their appreciation.

— By just saying "thank you"
— I would thank them with a smile every day
— I would give them a day with no hassles, no complaints, and no problems
— I would send them all on a vacation
— I would get the teachers computers that would do their work for them
— I would give them a hug
— I would give them my attention
— I would give my teachers a white Christmas
— I would wish them a merry, merry Christmas
— I would try to show them how I have benefitted from all the knowledge and care that I have received
— I would do this by being the best person I could using what I have in my power.

Middle School Ends Fall Season Teams Enjoyed Tough Competition

by Anne Riederer

Compliments of the "Here and Now"

The Middle School's hockey and soccer teams ended their seasons successfully. The soccer team played well this year. They had a total of two wins, one tie, and three losses. Fifteen goals were scored throughout the season with high scorer, Jenny Ross. The height of victory for the soccer team came when they beat Sidwell 9-0. Although the team had more games than practices, Coach Moore has done a good job of coaching this year.

The hockey team ended their season with one victory, one tie, and four losses. There were three goals scored for Stone Ridge with the high scorer being Kim Somerville. Coach Stevenson helped the hockey team greatly improve their skills. Altogether it has been a great year!

Amidst the wild cheers of "Iron 'em out! Iron 'em out," this year's Stone Ridge hockey players worked to their fullest potential and certainly seemed to be aiming towards a successful season. Led by the new coach, Miss Wait, the team worked well together in learning new skills and practicing old ones. The success of the Varsity was for the large part due to the excellent defense of Missy Horning, the goalie. The speed and skill of the forward line gave Stone Ridge a one point victory over one of its top competitors, Foxcroft.

The Junior Varsity also worked as a well-drilled team. Nancy Duda from Omaha, Nebraska, was the first exchange student to be a captain of a Stone Ridge team. She provided excellent leadership for the J.V. One of their most competitive games of the year was against our arch-rival, Holton Arms, and ended in victory with a close score of 1-0. With the continued skill and spirit of the players, as well as the loud cheers of the spectators, "When the Blue and Gold fall into line," the Stone Ridge Hockey team should have many successful seasons ahead!

STICK IT TO 'EM GATORS!

"Ain't no stopping us now . . ."

The 1980-81 soccer season witnessed the triumph of an experienced, well-coached team. Although plagued by periodic lack of enthusiasm, the team could not help but succeed. The season record of 6-4 does not truly represent the athletic talent and solid fundamentals possessed by the team members. The four years of experience shared by the forward line led to a superb offensive effort. The team scored an unprecendented 24 goals in ten games. A fast, aggressive line of halfbacks supported by strong fullbacks and the ever-consistant goalie Sharon Lee made up the defensive unit.

The final game of the regular season pitted the Gators against a strong Visitation squad. The grueling battle won by Stone Ridge featured superb defensive play by the halfbacks Camille Shaffer, Chrissy Funderburk, and Lisa Holliday.

The season ended triumphantly at the Independent School League Soccer Tournament. Aided by the courageous play of injured right inner Gwen Gunther, the team defeated Holton Arms school and Oakcrest. In the last game of the tournament, the Boyd sisters coupled with Anne Clark thwarted the NCS offense. Stone Ridge held on to a one point lead and in doing so won the entire tournament!

The Junior Varsity revealed growing potential through its 6-1-1 record. Their consistency and scoring power combined to mercilessly vanquish opponents. Captain Tracy Scott and Holly French led the J.V. offense. The team's record leaves hope for a great future.

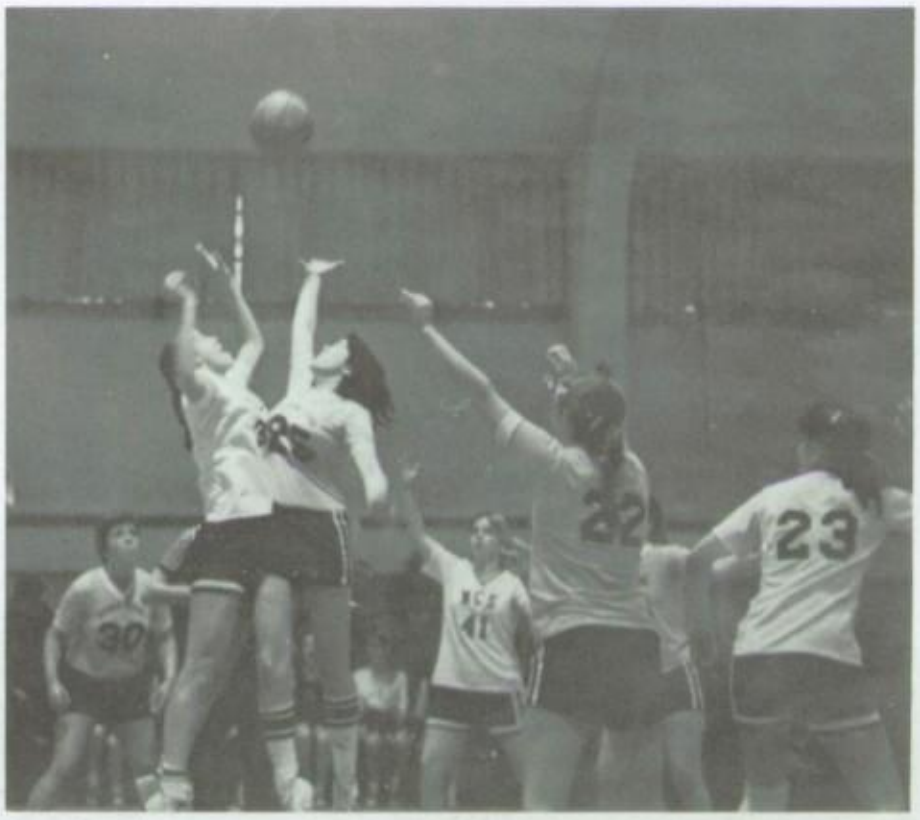
The 1980-81 soccer season can be summed up in one word: Victory. "How sweet it is!"

JUNIOR VARSITY Back: Tricey Brown, Kathy Fontana, Marquette Bastian, Mary Kosch, Arlene Madarang, Tracy Scott(captain). Front: Cindy Domalski, Dawn Ostlund, Robin Barker, Suzanne Watson, Nancy Johnston, Holly French.

VARSITY Back: Ronda Killens (manager), Ann Nicolaides, Kathy Boyd, Susie Boyd, Sharon Lee, Tracy Scott (manager). Front: Mary Nordberg, Vivi Kopsidas, Miss Wait (coach), Missy Horning (captain), Elizabeth Trimble.

A team that plays together, wins together! This phrase can easily be applied to the 1980-81 Basketball season. Despite the loss of three varsity starters and last year's coach, the team has proven remarkably strong, both in fundamental skills and in spirit. New coach Sally Wait combined her enthusiasm and expertise to mold this year's squad into one whose success has been unparalleled in recent years. Play this season was not dominated by any one individual, but was an outstanding team effort.

A heart-breaking 1 point overtime loss to N.C.S. failed to deter the overall spirit and success of the team. A significant highpoint of the season came with a victory over Holy Child, in which Captain Missy Horning scored a season high of 24 points. With two games to go, the team's season record was 9 wins, 3 losses with a great possibility of a season finish of 11-3. The team had high hopes for the league tournament and showed much promise for finishing near the top.



"Gators are Tough Tough Tough"

JUNIOR VARSITY Back: Eileen Boland (captain), Alice Cassidy, Dawn Ostlund, Rosie O'Keefe. Front: Mimi Nicolaides, Elizabeth Malia, Kate Ryan, Melissa Meers, Anne Dowling. Missing: Diane Curry.

VARSITY Back: Arlene Madarang (captain), Mary Beth O'Donnell, Meg Hanlon, Linda Matonis, Jasmin Nawab. Front: Quita Remick, Marlo Rivas, Julie Gillespie. Missing: Cindy Domalski.

With a combination of new and old players, the volleyball team began its season with a feeling of excited expectation. After many hours of practice involving exercises such as push-ups, suicides, and hurdlers the team began to show promise for a successful season.

Holy Child was forced to surrender its dignity to the bumping, setting, and spiking Stone Ridge volleyball teams. The first game was only a hint of things to come. The hours both Varsity and Junior Varsity had put into the season could never fully express the spirit and elation that came out of it. The team had their disappointments as well. The Gators suffered a double loss at Foxcroft. However, the defeat could not slow down the Stone Ridge momentum: both teams trampled Holton Arms in a quick victory. Tradition did not remain unchanged when the Varsity triumphed over Notre Dame, an opponent which had previously proven to be the Gators' downfall. The final game was a contradiction to the theory that agony follows defeat. The Varsity and the Junior Varsity teams played to three games in an exciting match against G.D.S. The spirit of the team and its excellent season could not be defeated in just one game.

Who's Behind The Lights

Yes, the reports are true, there is life behind the Stone Ridge stage.

Beyond all the magic and beauty, beyond all the lights and sound, beyond all the tinsel and crepe paper, lurk seven or eight deranged persons who, in their insanity, have found a meaning to back stage living.

This life, or their imitation of it, is the way these people choose to spend their "extra" time. These eccentric, lonely, semi-comatose beings aren't necessarily gifted singers and dancers, although they have been known to be pushed far enough that they go into their own "song and dance routine."

Stage managers, being the impromtu masters of the world, often come up with some weird ideas; stage crew, being the most understanding work force of the world, often end up doing some weird things.

For instance, there was a Christmas Concert when a member of the stage crew not only moved a Christmas tree on the stage, but also remained there throughout the song to hold up the tree.

Then there was the manager who seemed to be fighting for equal time, as her struggle with the sound system kept her on stage most of the night.

Who can forget the manager whose pupils are permanently contracted as a result of extensive exposure to bright light?

Imagine being a performer and everywhere you look there is a strange person looking up at you with a 200 watt grin, whispering, "smile, smile."

Stage crew members can give you an accurate idea of just how high an 18 foot ladder is. Only stage crew know that the stage is five giant leaps, three half steps, and one turn long.

Only stage crew has penetrated the world of micro-organisms that exists among the rafters and ceiling lights. The Coca-Cola Company has made a fortune from stage crew since Coke has become their main sustanence.

Stage crew have been refused life insurance coverage as they are in a high risk category. They have learned to get along with one foot because of a 250 pound spotlight that likes to "step on toes."

They have suffered rope burn due to a curtain which has a will of its own. Speaking of curtains, recall the year that the curtain came off its hooks five minutes before the concert and the 18 foot ladder had to be dragged on stage to repair it.

The stage crew can give you at least 101 ways to use masking tape, including the following: holding down the mike cords at 72 degree angles so that the mikes will work; fastening reindeers' horns and suspenders; closing shoes that have no laces; blocking the passage behind the curtains so the ornaments do not fall; and then, taping the ornaments back up when people ignore the tape.

So you see, there is life behind that fading red curtain on the Stone Ridge stage, without which, life on stage would be impossible. As you sit and watch Stone Ridge concerts, and plays, remember the unseen force working behind the scenes which makes it all possible.

"Yes Virginia. There is a Stage Crew."

Stage managers do it with tape!

Eileen Patricia Cleary

Into this life we are born
Sometimes we don't know why
And time seems to go by so fast
In the twinkling of an eye

Let's enjoy it while we can
Won't you help me sing my song
From the dark end of the street
To the bright side of the road . . .
— Van Morrison

Leta (Angel) Davis

It is easy enough to be pleasant,
When life flows by like a song,
But the man worth while is the one who will smile,
When everything goes dead wrong.
For the test of the heart is trouble,
And it always comes with the years,
And the smile that is worth the praises of earth
Is the smile that shines through tears.
Ella Wheeler Wilcox

A foothill we have climbed,
and climbed it well.
And you my friends are really swell.
But do not hesitate, do not dwell.
For our memories keep us from saying farewell.

Now go forth for the wind will call
For us to climb our mountain tall.
We can do it, we will not fall
We'll touch the stars in heavens hall.

For all the good times
Sad times
Laugh times
Silly, sentimental times
We've shared —
I celebrate you, my Friend.

Mom,
Thanks for the time that you've given me. The memories are warm in my mind. Now that we come to the end of our rainbow, there is something I must say out loud, You're once, twice, three times a lady and I love you, I love you.

Terri ... Tap ... Bunny ... Minority (You too, Arlene) ... Freshman Year: ... Kathy Jo's BLTs ... "Boy, you guys are really queer" ... So much for a great year ... Don't walk in front of me. I may not follow. Don't walk behind me. I may not lead. Only walk beside me and be my friend ... Sophomore year: ... Arlene's slumber party ... —, you're a pig ... Mary and Mary Ellen's birthday ... "She better take it easy" ... I want that one ... Toga, Toga, Toga!!! ... "No kidding. MM picked him up in Milwaukee" ... Andrea and Fern and Eric, etc ... Angel, my best friend and worst enemy ... Eating lunch in the bio room ... Speech team ... "Of course I know how to make a pizza" ... Wait til next year ... Phonnie Bear ... "Suppose I don't get into college" ... I'll join the convent ... prom party ... ticket in the trash ... SUPERMAN ... Barhopping ... Talent show ... Dancing with Jeni ... Squeaky, you'll always be one of my best friends ... Roni and ordering pizza without paying ... Let's do it again ... Soccer ... "LIFE IS LIFE" — Anthony Braxton ... Junior year: ... miss you Susmita ... Junior Ski Trip ... SATs ... Ellen Henneybaby ... Check out his legs ... Marc, my better half ... she's going out with my boyfriend? ... Suicide ... "I'll start my diet as soon as I finish my candy bar" ... Fern, I've got this great chick for you to meet ... The Music Man ... A Raisin in the Sun ... the Zoo Story ... children's hour ... Senior year: ... what happens if we get into college ... looks like we made it ... Debutante Cotillion ... what a body ... Winstons, Beer, and Lori ... Class of '81 — BEST OF FRIENDS ... When passing through the doorway of life, people ask, "Where are you from?" ... I tell them, "From parents who care." ... I've been given life and set free ... Thank you Mom and Dad for always loving me ... I love you all very much ...

There are places I remember, all my life though some have changed. Some forever, not for better, some have gone and some remain. All these places have their meanings, with people and things I still can recall. I know I'll never stop and lose affection, in my life I've loved them all.

There was a little girl
Who had a little curl
Right in the middle of her forehead
And when she was good
She was very, very good
But when she was bad,
She was horrid!
